Woke new law is a Snowflakes' Charter

KILLJOY STARMER BANS PUB BANTER

By JENNIFER SMALLBONE

NEW laws to protect workers from harassment could be used to ban BANTER in boozers.

Keir Starmer's government has been warned by the equalities watchdog that rules could be applied to "overheard conversations".

Experts fear the rules will lead to landlords being sued by snowflake bar staff who overhear boozers' chat.

Ceasefire 'imminent' for Gaza

NEGOTIATORS have met again in Qatar to try to finalise a deal for a ceasefire in the Gaza Strip and for the release of hostages, with signs that Israel and Hamas are on the brink of an agreement.

A Palestinian official familiar with the negotiations said that, for the first time in the war, delegations from Israel and Hamas are conducting indirect talks in the same building.

Hamas is also said to have dropped its condition for Israeli troops to leave the Strip.

US President Joe Biden (above) said a deal was "on the brink" of coming to fruition.

The new impetus comes after threats by US President-elect Donald Trump that "hell will break loose" if no deal is reached by the time of his inauguration on January 20.

Musk TikTok bid 'fiction'

TIKTOK has said reports it could sell its US business to X owner Elon Musk are "pure fiction".

According to Bloomberg News, officials in China – the home of TikTok's parent firm ByteDance – are weighing up a sale to the billionaire Twitter owner if it can not overturn an impending US ban.

But in response to the reports, a TikTok spokesperson said: "We can't be expected to comment on pure fiction."

TikTok is facing a ban in the US from January 19 over US national security concerns about China's possible influence over TikTok – something the company has always denied.

Brewers slam meddling Labour's new tax

SAVE OUR BEER BOTTLES!

BEER bottles could be phased out by many brewers due to a forthcoming 'net zero' tax.

Newcastle Brown Ale's extra-large 'pint' bottle, Grolsch's famous porcelain top flask and a slice of lime in the neck of Mexican lager Corona may all become things of the past, say industry bodies.

It is feared the government's 'Extended Producer Responsibility' scheme will slap an additional cost of 5p per bottle on manufacturers, forcing some breweries to switch from glass to cans.

British Beer & Pub Association

chief executive Emma McClarkin told pub trade newspaper The Morning Advertiser: "The revised estimates for glass are an extremely worrying step in the wrong direction.

"The government must be clear-eyed that these proposed higher additional costs on brewers would land an extra £160million, or 5p per glass bottle, on the sector.

"This could force some brewers to leave the glass bottle market.

"Given the incredibly narrow margins UK brewers operate to, as they make an average of 2p per bottle of beer, this means they will be forced to pass on extra painful costs to the consumer if they want to carry on making their product."

The new green levy on food and drink packaging, which comes into force in April, is aimed at reducing heavier packaging such as glass.

According to the Government's own analysis, the tax could increase Britons' yearly grocery bills by up to £56 per household.

British Glass chief executive Dave Dalton said: "We believe the cost could be even higher once additional supply chain costs and VAT are added."

Reform UK creep closer to power

REFORM UK is now just one percentage point behind Labour – putting their leader Nigel Farage within touching distance of Number 10 at the next election.

New polling data from YouGov, commissioned by Sky News, puts Reform on 24 per cent and Labour on 25 per cent – down a whopping 9 percentage points from their winning vote share at the 2024 UK election.

With the Tories on 22 per cent, the UK electorate may be about to usher in a new epoch of three-way party politics.

Reform UK has been making waves in the headlines recently after rumours that tech tycoon Elon Musk was planning to donate a $100million war chest to the party.

In March 2024 Reform hit a then all-time high of 14 per cent, a figure they managed to retain in the general election later that year.

But they are now close to doubling that figure, while the Conservatives, two months after Kemi Badenoch was elected leader, are in third.

Corruption claim on MP

ANTI-corruption minister Tulip Siddiq has been named by investigators in Bangladesh who allege she was involved in the illegal allocation of land to members of her family while serving as an MP.

An affidavit filed by the anti-corruption commission in Bangladesh accuses Ms Siddiq and others of being involved in fraudulently obtaining plots in the diplomatic zone of a development near to the country's capital Dhaka.

The director general of the Bangladesh Anti-Corruption Commission Akhtar Hossain said: "Tulip Siddiq and former prime minister of Bangladesh Sheikh Hasina misused... power to take the plot from the Purbachal New Town Project."

Workers' law is charter for snowflakes

A BIT OF BANTER: But Starmer's bill could make it a thing of the past

LAWS to protect workers from harassment could be used to ban BANTER in boozers.

Keir Starmer's government has been warned by the equalities watchdog that rules could 'disproportionately curtail' freedom of expression and be applied to 'overheard conversations'.

Ministers have proposed that employers must protect workers from being harassed at work by 'third parties' such as customers or clients. If they fail to do so they could be sued.

However, the Equality and Human Rights Commission said this was particularly challenging in cases involving a 'philosophical belief', such as people's views on religion or women's rights, because many business owners do not understand such topics are protected by equality law.

news@sundaysport.co.uk

"The legal definition of what amounts to philosophical belief is complex and not well understood by employers," it said.

"These difficulties may lead to disproportionate restriction of the right to freedom of expression under Article 10 ECHR."

Ministers have admitted, in a human rights assessment carried out alongside the examination of the bill, that there may be issues around freedom of expression 'particularly in areas of legitimate debate which are carried out in acrimonious manner'.

The government insisted the definition of what constitutes harassment – "unwanted conduct that has the purpose or effect of violating the recipient's dignity or creating an intimidating, hostile, degrading, humiliating or offensive environment" – is a high threshold for measures to come into effect.

An Office for Equality and Opportunity spokesman said: "Free speech is a cornerstone of British values but of course it is right that the Employment Rights Bill protects employees from workplace harassment, which is a serious issue."

Kate Nicholls, chief executive of UK Hospitality, said she agreed with the issues identified by the EHRC. She said: "These are complex legal issues. We agree with the EHRC's concerns and we don't believe that the burden of policing these issues should fall upon employers."

A spokesman for the British Beer and Pub Association said: "Any legalisation must be carefully drafted to make sure it does not have unintended consequences, such as pub workers expected to decide whether private conversations between customers constitute a violation of law."

Other measures in the employment rights bill will bring in guaranteed hours provisions on zero-hours contracts and allow workers to bring unfair dismissal claims from the first day of employment.

DARWIN GRAVE WRECKERS CHARGED

TWO women have been charged with criminal damage after chalk paint was sprayed on Charles Darwin's grave in Westminster Abbey.

The words "1.5 is dead" were written in orange on the 19th century biologist's grave on Monday – referring to attempts to limit global warming to 1.5C and reduce the impact of climate change.

Environmental campaign group Just Stop Oil said Alyson Lee, 66, a retired teaching assistant from Derby, and Di

Bligh, a 77-year-old former chief executive of Reading Council from Frome in Somerset, were at the Abbey on Monday. They have both been charged with criminal damage and bailed to appear at Westminster Magistrates' Court on separate dates next month – Lee on February 11 and Bligh on February 12.

A spokesperson for the church said they do not anticipate there will be any permanent damage caused by the protest.

On Monday, Lee said: "We are trying to get the Government to act on climate change. They are not doing enough," as Bligh added, "We've done this because there's no hope for the world."

THE Covid vaccine may have got a bad press – what with people dropping dead after being given it.

But there is some GOOD news about it, too.

Dozens of women reported their breasts ballooning in size after receiving the vaccine.

The revelation comes days after a report of a 19-year-old Canadian woman whose breasts quadrupled in size in what experts believe is a rare reaction to Pfizer's Covid jab – dubbed "the Pfizer boob job".

New data from the British drug medical safety watchdog also shows 33 reports of similar cases of "breast enlargement" following Pfizer's vaccine.

A further 11 British women reported an expanded bust after AstraZeneca's jab, while four reported the same reaction after a Moderna vaccine.

These reports, made to the UK's Medicines and Healthcare products Regulatory Agency

By BRETT SINCLAIR

(MHRA) Yellow Card system, are based on patient testimony only.

Not all women who have had the jab end up with busters like Sport models Sarah Randall or Robyn Alexandra, but the reports have got boffins interested.

Experts say that it is possible such unexpected bodily changes occurred by chance – and had nothing to do with the jab.

However, doctors have argued the link between the unusual reaction and the vaccine is indeed plausible.

A report by medics at the University of Toronto told of an unnamed Canadian woman aged 19 who went from a B cup to triple G cup within six months of two doses of a Pfizer Covid jab.

She received her first dose of the vaccine in September 2022 and over a six-month period of feeling her boobs tingling, her breasts grew dramatically.

Pep and his missus split after 30yrs

PEP Guardiola and his wife are said to have separated after 30 years together in a "totally cordial" split.

The Manchester City manager, 53, is said to have drifted apart from Cristina Serra after living in different countries for at least the last five years.

The couple met in 1994, married in 2014 and have three children together.

According to various reports in Spain, Serra has been living in Barcelona full time while Pep remained in Manchester.

Serra, a Brazilian journalist and writer, has been pictured with Guardiola various times in the last year.

It's been reported that the decision to end their marriage was made in December, with only members of their inner circle initially aware.

However, their relationship remains "totally cordial, stable and friendly".

Brits face Spanish holiday home tax

BRITISH buyers will be forced to pay 100% tax on their holiday home in Spain under new measures to fix the country's housing crisis.

Spanish PM, Pedro Sanchez, announced 12 reforms amid a row over the impact of foreigners on local house prices.

This includes the introduction of a tax – which could be as high as 100% of the value of the home – for those from outside the EU who do not currently live in Spain.

The incoming President wants to use the power of the American Army to seize the Panama Canal and snowy Greenland.

But his most audacious plan is to make British Commonwealth country Canada the 51st state of the USA!

Trump keeps floating the idea that Canada should join the United States, adding that he would not use military force to invade the country – which is home to more than 40 million people and is a founding NATO partner.

Instead, Trump said he would rely on "economic force".

Today, Midweek Sport defends the sovereignty of Canada, and we tell Trump to keep his grubby hands off the nation's natural resources – oil, timber, clean water and busty babes!

Nine million tune in to new Traitors

MORE than nine million people watched the first episode of the new series of The Traitors, the biggest audience in the show's history, figures reveal.

The game show, in which members of the public attempt to identify who among them are "faithfuls" and "traitors", returned to BBC One on New Year's Day.

An average audience of 9.2 million saw the launch episode, according to official ratings published by the research organisation Barb.

The figures include all people who recorded and watched the programme up to seven days later, along with those who viewed on tablets, PCs and smartphones.

The equivalent ratings for 2024's launch were 5.9 million.

Audiences for The Traitors grew steadily during last year's series – the second to air on UK television – peaking at 8 million for the final.

This year's series – hosted by Claudia Winkleman (above) – is on BBC One three nights a week.

The second and third episodes were watched by 8.5 million and 8.6 million respectively.

FIFA pulled into 3m dog deaths row

A TOP conservationist has condemned Morocco and urged FIFA to take action over the slaughter of three million street dogs ahead of the 2030 World Cup.

Campaigners claim the animals could be killed in a "clean-up" op to make cities "more presentable" to visiting football fans.

Reports say thousands of stray dogs have already been massacred in venues across the North African nation, with fears the killings are growing.

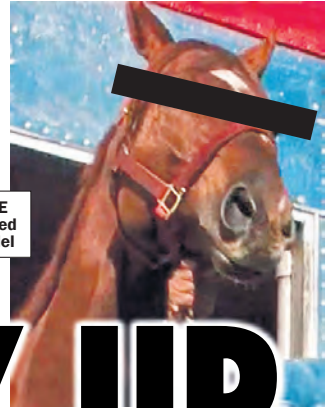

Jane Goodall, an animal rights campaigner, has written to the international football association demanding immediate action and accusing the organisation of "turning a blind eye" to "a horrific act of barbarity".

In the letter addressed to FIFA's Secretary General Mattias Grafström, Jane said she was left appalled to see that Moroccan authorities were engaging in the large-scale dog killings.

FIFA has yet to respond to the allegations, but critics have warned the organisation could face a PR disaster if the claims go ignored.

A MAN was arrested after attempting to shove his penis up a horse's nose.

Donald Calloway, 53, was held by cops in Lakes Wales, Florida, after officers were alerted to the sickening incident.

According to the arrest document police say they received a call about alleged sexual activities involving an animal.

Cops say an unnamed witness told them she saw a man masturbating next to the head of a 28-year-old horse named Raven.

This witness also alleged the man was tapping his member against the horse's nose and claims he attempted to insert it into a nostril.

Cops also say this witness claims that the man continued to pleasure himself while touching the horse.

Officers received a video from this witness which shows what she described to them – Calloway touching himself while stood next to the horse before tapping the horse with his penis.

Officers say the video doesn't actually show Calloway inserting his penis but they added his actions and movements make it seem like he's trying to.

Police confronted Calloway, according to the document, and say he called the decision "dumb" – adding: "I haven't had any sex in probably two months," and, "maybe it was just a sexually frustrated moment."

Calloway was then arrested and booked on one count of sexual contact with animals.

According to online records, he is being held in jail.

A police source said: "Well if that don't take the dol-gurned biscuits and gravy! By jiminy, yessir!"

Eriksson died owing £3.7million

SVEN-GORAN Eriksson died £3.7million in debt after years of financial mismanagement.

The former England manager had assets of £4.8m but debts in excess of £8.5m, leaving his estate with a hefty deficit, according to Swedish reports.

The Swede said on several occasions that he had poor control over his finances despite his illustrious career in football, reportedly telling Expressen in 2017: "I have no idea how much money I have and where it is."

The Swedish football legend died from pancreatic cancer last August at the age of 76.

Kim stands up for lag firefighters

REALITY star Kim Kardashian has shown her support for the jailbirds helping tackle wildfires in LA.

The criminal justice activist, 44 (above), released a statement on Instagram and demanded higher pay for the lags.

She said: "I have spent the last week watching my city burning and have seen and spoken to many firefighters who are up all night using every ounce of their strength to save our community. "On all five fires in LA there are hundreds of incarcerated fire-fighters risking their lives to save us."

"They are on the Palisades fire and Eaton fire in Pasadena, working 24hr shifts."

The American Horror Story actress noted that the inmates "get paid almost nothing, risk their lives and some have died".

Kim added: "I see them as heroes." More than 1,000 incarcerated men and women are helping fight the LA fires while wearing prison-orange jumpsuits out in the field and working with the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection.

Poke fun at sex for best relationship

DON'T worry if your wife or girlfriend laughs out loud in the sack...

Couples that joke about their sex lives are more likely to be satisfied with them, according to a study published in the Canadian Journal of Human Sexuality.

The study surveyed 196 participants, whose relationships were at least as long as four months and, on average, more than two years long.

Most participants were heterosexual women with an average age of 20.

Through online surveys, most of the participants said that positive jokes about their sex lives led to overall increased satisfaction in their romantic relationships.

It found "more frequent use of positive relational humour - by self and partner - was associated with more frequent and positively balanced sexual humour, whereas more frequent negative relational humour use by a partner predicted lower relationship and sexual satisfaction."

The study concluded that "relationship and sexual humour are related to both relationship and sexual satisfaction".

Shock 'bonus' during pissflaps op MEDIC FANNIES ABOUT WITH BROOKE'S MINGE

By JENNIFER SMALLBONE
news@sundaysport.co.uk

BROOKE Shields claims that a doctor tightened her minge while performing a pissflaps op.

The Pretty Baby actress, 59, made startling accusations against her plastic surgeon in her upcoming memoir, Brooke Shields Is Not Allowed to Get Old: Thoughts on Aging as a Woman.

Shields said she underwent labia reduction surgery while in her 40s after experiencing discomfort, chafing and bleeding.

However, her surgeon informed her during a post-op checkup that he threw in a "little bonus" without her consent while she was under the knife – vaginal rejuvenation.

"I'd be lying if I said I'm not embarrassed to share this very intimate information," the actress wrote.

"But, if we are to change the way we approach and talk about women's health, then we need to bring up the uncomfortable but very real issues."

Shields recalled that her surgeon seemed proud of his "twofer" while noting that she didn't want the "irreversible" procedure in the first place.

LONG CAREER: Brooke has been making films for decades

"He informed me that he threw in a little bonus," Shields said. "It felt like such an invasion—such a bizarre, like, rape of some kind."

She shared that "nothing pointed toward this need to be tighter or smaller or firmer or younger, especially there."

Despite not telling her husband of nearly 24 years, Chris Henchy, "for the longest time," the former Calvin Klein model shared that she's going public to raise awareness.

The Blue Lagoon actress has spoken about aging in the past, revealing it's "not a graceful process."

"Isn't it interesting how we even have to say, okay, well if you're going to age, you're going to have to do it gracefully," she told Allure magazine.

"Excuse me, but fk you."

Potholes still a huge issue

POTHOLE-ridden roads are being left unrepaired by councils at record levels.

Up to 82% of the miles of local roads flagged as in need of maintenance were ignored by councils in the UK last year.

That is the highest proportion since records began in 2008, according to analysis of Department for Transport data.

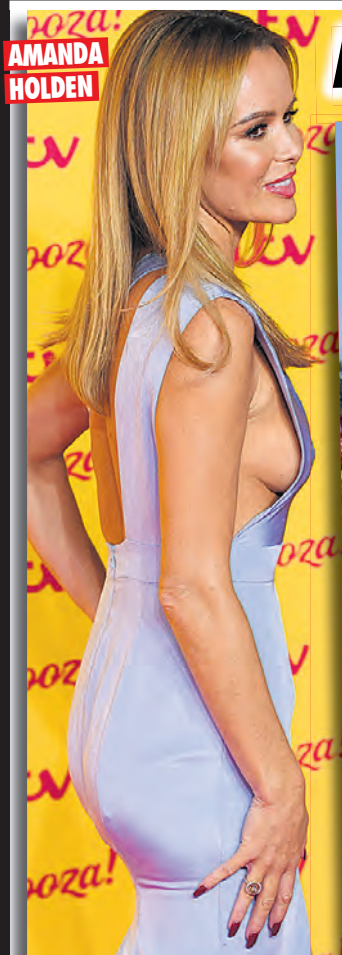

Sir Keir Starmer pledged to hand councils £1.6 billion just before Christmas, with the money being ring-fenced for fixing potholes.

Three-quarters of that sum is being given to local authorities upfront, with the remaining portion handed over by the Government if councils show the cash is being spent on road repairs.

The PM also thinks that Artificial Intelligence can be used to fix roads, but hasn't yet explained how.

HOLLYWOOD star Nicole Kidman's new movie is so hot she doesn't want her teen daughters to see it.

The Aussie actress, 57 (above), plays a married middle-aged executive who has a highly erotic affair with a much younger intern in Babygirl.

Even though she says the new film aims to show female sexual pleasure as it really is – albeit with the help of a co-star half her age – she doesn't want the 16 and 14-year-old daughters she shares with musician Keith Urban to watch it over the intense sex scenes.

Nicole said: "Well, my daughters aren't seeing it, but they've also declared that they don't want to see it. "Neither of them has any interest in seeing Mum like that."

In Babygirl, Nicole plays Romy, the married but sexually frustrated CEO of an AI-driven logistics firm who embarks on a steamy entanglement with brazen intern Samuel – played by 28-year-old Brit Harris Dickinson.

Also in it is Antonio Banderas who plays Jacob, Romy's theatre director husband.

Previously, Nicole said she had to fake sex many times during filming and was terrified of playing the "grunting" scenes.

Dildo fans warned of hack harm

BLUETOOTH sex toys may be open to hacking by "malicious third parties", the Government warns.

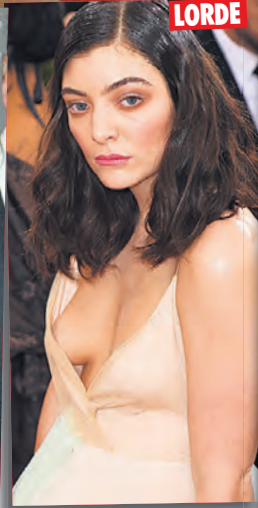

Remote adult devices are designed to be used in one location while being controlled by someone else in another.

Research for the Department for Science, Innovation and Technology said cyberattacks could also cause physical harm – such as making the gadget overheat.

Harm could also be caused through the disclosure of sensitive personal information such as names, sexual or gender orientation, lists of sexual partners, information about device usage, or intimate photos and video – accessible via the apps that control the devices, the research says.

Vulnerabilities include the Bluetooth connectivity that links the device with a companion app.

The research added: "Sex toys have multiple vulnerabilities and attack surfaces, demonstrating clear capacity to inflict physical and psychological harm to consumers."

Lover faces murder charge

THEY FOUND HER HEAD IN A BINBAG

CHARGED:
Craig Allen Nichols (right) is said to have killed Ann Boden (above)

A MONSTER faces charges after his girlfriend's decapitated body was discovered in her apartment – and her head was found in a bin bag.

Craig Allen Nichols Jr, 32, now faces second-degree murder and manslaughter raps in the death of Heather Ann Bodden, 41.

The grisly discovery was made after friends of the victim had gone to check on her at her apartment in Yankton, near Sioux Falls, South Dakota, and found her decapitated body.

Threatened

Inside, police later found "what appeared to be a deceased headless person".

One of the victim's friends told cops she had received a text message from the victim just a day earlier saying her boyfriend – who she identified as the suspect – had threatened her with a weapon, and she hadn't heard from her in over 24 hours.

Nichols was arrested at his apartment, where he barricaded himself inside.

A search of his home turned up "wet shoes with a reddish brown substance on them," according to the arrest report.

At Bodden's flat, police found her head in a rubbish bag.

A plastic grocery bag was also found with "bloody male clothing".

Police also found three weapons wrapped in a floor mat in a trash bag close to the bag containing Bodden's head.

Nichols is being held in the Yankton County Jail.

Gen Z snubbing household jobs

GEN Z are paying up to £1,300 a year for others to do "basic" household tasks – like changing light bulbs.

A quarter of adults aged 18 to 27 said they wouldn't change a light bulb themselves because using a stepladder could be dangerous, while one in five fear the bulb could be "too hot".

Research commissioned by Halfords shows Britain is moving from a country of DIY lovers to one that relies on others.

Gen Z includes adults and children aged 11 to 27 but the research only surveyed adults.

It found 21% of Gen Z and 22% of Millennials, aged 28 to 43, would call in a professional to change a ceiling light at home.

PRISON DRONES A BIG PROBLEM

DRONES delivering drugs and weapons into jails pose a threat to national security, the prisons watchdog warns today.

Chief Inspector of Prisons Charlie Taylor said police and jail chiefs have "ceded the airspace above two high-security prisons to organised crime gangs" amid huge numbers of illicit drone flights.

Apart from consignments of illegal drugs and weapons, prisoners are receiving mobile phones and even takeaway meals, Mr Taylor found.

He called for urgent action after inspections found high levels of drugs in HMP Manchester and HMP Long Lartin in Worcestershire.

Mr Taylor said: "It is alarming that organised crime gangs are able to deliver contraband to jails."

"It is chilling that weapons can be delivered in this way – especially when some of these wings hold terrorists."

Naomi's sex scene leads to marriage

HOLLYWOOD star Naomi Watts says a sex scene with her now-husband Billy Crudup was so steamy that it sparked their relationship.

The Oscar-nominated actor, 56 (above), spoke about the experience, revealing it made her "blush" and "break character".

She opens up about her sex life and libido in her frank new book Dare I Say It: Everything I Wish I'd Known about Menopause.

In it, the Mulholland Drive star recounted meeting Crudup on the set of the 2017 Netflix series Gypsy, in which she played a "horny, sociopathic therapist" and Billy played her husband.

Naomi said: "One day during a sex scene, he spontaneously flung a pillow across the room while ravishing me with such passion I blushed and broke character. "Hello, sailor", I thought to myself."

WE all love a nice titter – and today we celebrate National Hat Day!

The annual event is meant to promote hat wearing – from posh toppers to skanky baseball caps.

Hats have been in the world since at least 3,000 BC.

This is known because an image of a man wearing a hat that seemed to be made of straw was discovered in a mural from that period.

Since then, hats have served some diverse purposes – from simple protective wear to helping those stuck out in the rain, cold, or hot sun, and to indicating various degrees of status and rank in political, royal or other communities.

Who doesn't recognise a crown as the ultimate mark of royalty?

Here at Midweek Sport, it's an excuse to print five pages of babes in hats – with their boobs out!

THIS makes me sound like a real exhibitionist... I love banging in front of my window so everyone can see!

I get such a thrill knowing I could be being watched. I often walk around naked in my flat and I know there are two blokes who live opposite me who have noticed! When I realised this I decided to put on a show for them, while pretending I was unaware of their prying eyes.

Eye-ful

So anytime I have a guy over, the curtains are always wide open and I position us near the window so they get a real eye-ful. When I go away I become even more out there. I once stayed in an apartment in Dublin that had a roof garden area that the apartments all round overlooked. I went with my then boyfriend and we fked on the roof completely naked. It was the hottest thing ever – I came for Britain and I'm sure everyone heard me!

Housekeeper defrauds OAP over no bonus

A YOUNG housekeeper robbed and assaulted her 83-year-old boss when the older woman said she couldn't afford a holiday bonus.

Heather Nelson, 29 (above), became angry when her request for a £400 bonus was rejected by her boss.

"Nelson responded by physically wrenching the victim's chequebook from her hand, stealing a cheque, and then, I guess in an effort to ruin other people's Christmas as well, stole Christmas cards that were set to be sent out also containing cheques," Brevard County, Florida, Sheriff Wayne Ivey said.

Nelson allegedly grabbed the book with such force she nearly broke the OAP's wrist.

Nelson then allegedly wrote a cheque for £1,155 and used the victim's credit card to pay her rent and make other purchases.

Nelson was nabbed last week after the cheque cleared and credit card transactions were posted.

She faces a list of charges, including aggravated battery, robbery, forgery, fraud, passing a counterfeit instrument and grand theft.

Spider puts more Brits in hospital

THE venomous noble false widow spider is hospitalising record numbers of people as it spreads across Britain.

It's one of only 10 spider species in the UK that has fangs and jaw muscles strong enough to puncture human skin and its venom is 230 times more toxic than other native spiders.

Around 100 people were hospitalised with suspected spider bites last year, official NHS data shows – four times as many as a decade ago and twice as many as just two years ago.

The vast majority of bites are likely caused by noble false widows, experts say, with lots of cases misdiagnosed as being spider bites.

The noble false widow has colonised new areas across the UK in recent years after being transported in cars and trucks.

The spider's preferred habitat is human homes. Spider bites have now overtaken snake bites as a reason for being admitted to hospital, although they are still vastly outweighed by the hundreds brought to A&E units because of bee and wasp stings.

RACHEL Reeves is one of a host of Labour bigwigs caught following a Twitter account that's packed with snaps of HUGE, HARD COCKS!

The Chancellor – who recently visited China to secure a half-arsed trade deal – followed former Labour MP and government minister Ivor Caplin.

Caplin, arrested last week after a "paedophile sting", was a regular user of Elon Musk's social media site.

But along with tireless cheerleading for the Labour regime, Caplin, 66, frequently retweets explicit photographs of young men sporting steaming great erections!

The ex-politician also uses apparently the social media site to arrange eyewatering bumbling sessions with young men.

Despite the explicit nature of the feed, Reeves – nicknamed Rachel from Accounts – former PM Gordon Brown, Deputy PM Angela Rayner and even Blair henchman Alastair Campbell are all followers.

Twitter experts are unsure whether Ms Reeves or any of her Labour colleagues would have seen the XXX gay porn on the feed.

Caplin's high-flying followers list emerged after a 66-year-old man was arrested on suspicion of engaging in sexual communication with a minor.

Handcuffed

A social media video circulating on Twitter reveals a man who identifies himself to be the ex-Labour MP Ivor Caplin being handcuffed by police.

In May last year, Caplin was suspended because of undisclosed "serious allegations", which he denies.

Video footage of the arrest has been posted online and a man wearing a black trench coat and a red cap can be seen, being held by police officers.

It is understood that Mr Caplin denies all allegations against him.

JUSTIN DUNN'S ROOM 101

WHAT'S ANNOYING HIM THIS WEEK?

This guy knows evil when he sees it

YOU meet weird and wonderful people in this job.

Some you hope never, ever to meet again, others you'd happily hitch a ride with to wherever they're going.

Andrew Drury was in the second group.

Twelve years ago, I met up with him and his cousin Nigel Green to write an article on these pages about their "hobby".

Now, hobbies, to me, seem like stamp collecting, bird-watching and playing crown green bowls.

But these two married, middle-aged family men preferred a spicier sort of pastime.

Not for them a couple of weeks in Centre Parcs in Northamptonshire, or a water park full of screaming kids somewhere on the Balearics.

No. Why bother puttering along life in fifth gear when you can drop down to third, put the pedal to the metal and tear off into the distance.

Thus this pair found themselves on a flight to notorious North Korea, where they got to eat dog in a mostly empty hotel in the weirdly empty capital of Pyongyang while being followed around by armed "guides" who didn't know how to smile.

Bombed

Or there was the time that they holidayed in the Khyber pass between Pakistan and Afghanistan – a route bombed only slightly less than the surface of the Moon.

Then there was their trip to Mogadishu, where they found bits of the actual, real-life Black Hawk helicopter of the infamous Black Hawk Down true story-turned-movie.

Their lives were enthralling. While Nigel went off seeking out famous battlefields and mega vehicles, Andrew continued on with the more dangerous side of danger tourism.

One saw him swimming in a pond lying in the shadow of the doomed Chernobyl nuclear plant in Ukraine, in which he trod water bristling with radioactive contamination.

That trip was so successful it was turned into a documentary, which in turn placed a seed in his mind... a seed that eventually sprouted into Andrew's most perilous task yet – a journey into ISIS hellholes in Syria.

That story was remarkable enough. A brave but decent man with kids of his own, wandering into a complex world of anger, fear, distrust – and chopped-off heads.

But among all the other horrors of EVIL: Shemima Begum and (below) how the Sport followed Nigel and Andrew on their travels

Syria, Andrew was to meet and get to know Shemima Begum, our notorious homegrown Jihadi bride who left the UK aged 15 to shack up over there with murderers she'd hooked up with online.

He got to know her pretty well.

Well enough for her to ask him for a hug when he first left the camp.

Well enough that they exchanged WhatsApp messages in which she'd ask for money to be sent to a bank account in Libya, which presumably would somehow find its way into her pocket.

But on one of his last visits, he'd asked her about the three children she'd given birth to in Syria who had all died.

She said she was "over it" and flapped a hand, as though that was "so yesterday".

Justice

Then Andrew popped up on the telly at the weekend during a discussion over whether the UK should restore Shemima's British citizenship to let her come back here to face justice.

No way, he said. He'd looked into her eyes and saw nothing there.

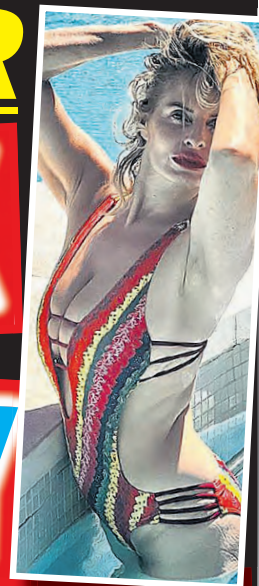

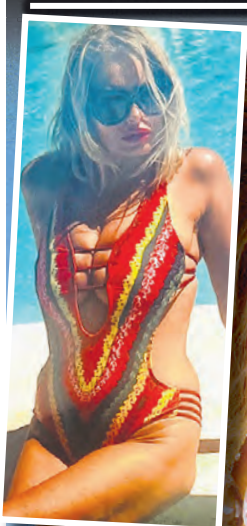

Just blankness. Darkness. Evil.

Now, I don't know about you, but if and when you've hung around with African warlords, south Asian drugs and weapons gangs, scoffed Alsatis, dodged spies, and gone skinny dipping in fizzing green waters, and you advise me that only ONE scary person on these fantastically mad travels is someone who should never be allowed back here in Britain, I'd listen.

Wouldn't you?

Family shot at while out with sledge

A MAN faces charges after he opened fire on a family that was sledging in the snow – claiming they were trespassing on his property.

Benjamin Cook faces six counts of aggravated assault in connection with the shooting, the Hamilton County Sheriff's Office in Tennessee said.

Deputies raced to the scene following a report a man was shooting at a family of six playing outside in the snow.

The parents and their four kids had gone to a local hill when they heard gunshots coming from a nearby house.

Yelled

They identified where the shots were coming from and yelled at a man – later identified as Cook – to stop shooting.

The visitors quickly gathered up their belongings and went home before reporting the incident to cops.

Although Cook later claimed the family was on his property when he began shooting, an investigation revealed that wasn't the case.

A search warrant was executed at Cook's home, where several rifles were found.

Drink grape juice to cut floppy cock

MEN who regularly drink grape juice could lower their odds of suffering from a floppy cock.

Researchers at Tianjin Medical University General Hospital, in northern China, found that, compared to those who consumed none at all, men who drank grape juice five times or more per week saw a 79% decrease in erection struggles.

Their analysis of 600 men – 300 with and 300 without droop – with a mean age of 47.2 years showed a marked advantage for men aged 40 and above, at 83% reduced odds of erectile dysfunction.

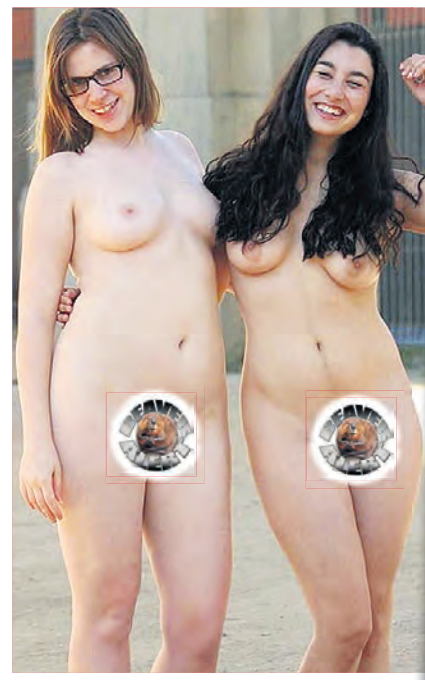

Men below the age of 40 gained only a third as much of the benefit, at just 27% reduced odds.

Erectile issues are common among ageing men with nearly half reporting having experienced bouts of ED by about the age of 60, the National Institutes of Health said.

An estimated 30 million American men have suffered from ED – approximately 18% of those aged 20 and older, Johns Hopkins University stats show.

GEN Z LEAD REVIVAL OF BIG, HAIRY FANNIES

THE BUSH IS BACK!

By MICHELLE VAN HOVEN
news@sundaysport.co.uk

GREAT news for fur fans – big hairy minges are BACK!

A recent online review for a bikini has sparked a body hair revolution.

Social media exploded after users caught wind of a review on craft site Etsy that included a photo of a woman with "a full bush in a bikini" – a phrase that has become the rallying cry for body hair proponents.

"I got radicalized by that Etsy review for real," a content creator named Sujindah said in a TikTok clip. "That's how it should be."

They are just one of the many users online who are declaring that "bush is best" and that "fuzzy is beautiful".

"Full bush in a bikini – the boots with the fur! An angel with wings!" rejoiced one person on TikTok who called the body hair a "great accessory".

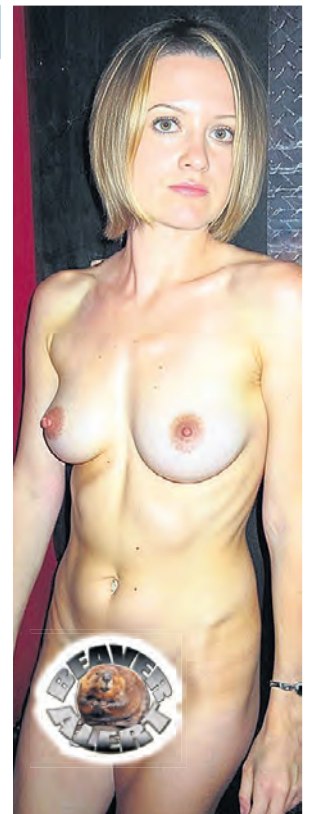

"It's the most liberating feeling in the world – changed my whole life," another user wrote.

"Bushes are so hot," another user posted.

"Real men aren't afraid to traverse the jungle," quipped one person, while another viewer said a bush is her "favourite ever accessory".

"Shaving a bush is the most boring, unchic decision a woman can make," chastised another. "It's like cutting off one's arm."

The online discourse follows the booming body hair trend that dates back to last year – when A-listers such as Julia Fox and Doja Cat promoted "hair down there".

THE WORLD FAMOUS AGONY Page

Dear Kelly,

I'M really into my cycling and ride around 10 miles into work and back every day.

As well as helping me lose about three stone, all that pumping on the saddle seems to have made my member grow quite substantially.

I couldn't resist "accidentally" walking into the office in my Lycra cycling shorts, just to see how the ladies would react to my bulge.

Most of them pretended to ignore me, but a couple of them – saucy mares – made comments about "packed lunch" and stuff like that.

In fact, one of them went so far as to give me a bit of a "tweak" by the photocopier, which led to us finding ourselves in the ladies loo.

She grabbed me with both hands, used her lips on me and then guided me in as we had a "quickie".

Trouble is, the other cheeky one got the hump that she didn't get to grips with my sizeable organ and grassed us up. Now I face the sack.

What shall I do?

MK, Norfolk

Kelly says...

GET on yer bike and look for a new job.

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 24-year-old joiner and I nearly took the tip of my finger off in a taxi door the other night while I was pissed.

It was gushing with blood, so I went straight off to hospital and had to pretend I wasn't in absolute agony when I was seen by a gorgeous female nurse.

But as she put ointment on my wound it really hurt and I winced. To my surprise she said she'd make the pain go away – and started to lick my fingers!

Obviously, I got a hard-on, which I realised she'd noticed when she discreetly pulled the curtains shut around us and began to rub the front of my jeans.

I soon forgot about my injury as she pulled out my rock-hard cock and knelt in front of me. She gave me an expert blowjob and even swallowed the lot.

Should I injure another digit, so I can go and see her again?

FK, Preston

Kelly says...

I RECKON she'd give you the finger if you did!

Swap sex backfired as my girl swapped me for a pal

Dear Kelly,

MY girlfriend walked out on me a few weeks ago and it left me devastated – we'd been together for five years.

She told me that she'd been seeing somebody else and, if that wasn't bad enough, she said the other guy is my mate.

It started when I introduced her to swapping partners. Our sex life was good, but I need a bit of variety and I was bored with just shagging her four or five times a week.

I found a contact site on the net and replied to one of the ads.

Once I'd sorted out a nice couple to have some adult fun with, I told my girlfriend.

At first she went berserk and called me all kinds of names. But I persisted and she agreed to give it a go.

The pair we met up with were a good-looking blonde and a tall, dark-haired man.

As the night wore on, my girl got into the mood by stroking the guy's knob while his bird sucked on mine.

The women then had lesbian sex as we watched and wanked.

Then my bird rolled over and grabbed hold of the fella and pulled him on top.

He gave her a good seeing to as I screwed his wife.

But when my girlfriend left me, she said it was my fault as she'd never have thought about shagging someone else but for our swapping session.

What should I do?

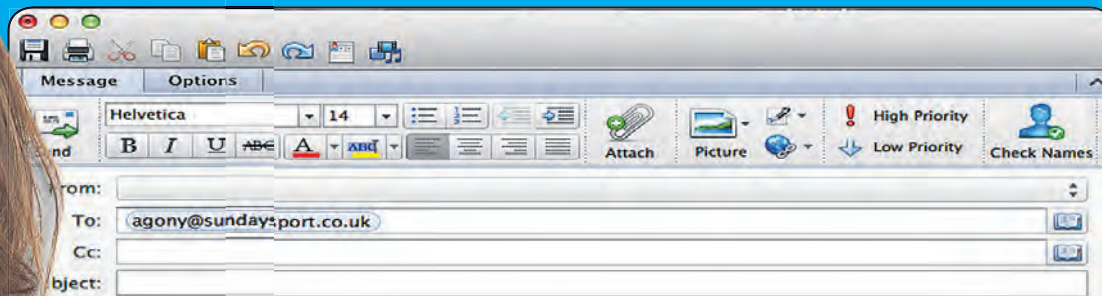

PW, Northumberland

Kelly says...

AGONY IS BROUGHT TO YOU IN ASSOCIATION

WELCOME to the World famous Sport Agony page! No other newspaper's agony aunts can offer the level of advice – or experience – than our own Agony Angels! This week KELLY MCGREGOR has been reading through your letters. And here's her advice for you...

Selfish mates use me as sex object

Dear Kelly,

I'M a 21-year-old single girl and I'm lucky enough to have a wide circle of friends.

Even though most of them are fellas, we go out clubbing every weekend and have a great time.

There are 10 of us – three girls and seven lads – and I have to admit we often get pretty blitzed and end up doing some wild things together.

But just lately, I feel that some of my male mates are simply using me for sex.

Pounding

The thing is, I've shagged all of them over the years but never got romantically involved with any of them.

However, over the last couple of months they've stopped asking me out with them at weekends.

Instead, they've been calling at my house in midweek and we end up having sex.

One night a pal turned up and asked point-blank for a fk.

Rather than disappoint him, I obligingly dropped my knickers and bent over the sofa.

He wasted no time ramming his seven-incher into me from behind and began pounding away.

It was pretty good and I orgasmed twice before he climaxed. But once he'd finished, he left.

The next night another of the fellas called and we ended up having oral with each other.

But again, he shot off to the pub as soon as he'd come.

The following week I was feeling really fed up because I hadn't been out when two of the guys called and we all ended up naked on my bed.

I sucked one of them off while his chum gave me a good licking and then they swapped places.

The pair of them then proceeded to shag me like there was no tomorrow.

It went on for ages, each of them taking turns to fill my pussy.

I had orgasm after orgasm until I had to beg them to stop because I couldn't take it any more.

Even then they weren't finished. They wanked themselves furiously over the top of me before squirting their spunk all over my face.

I thought I was at least going to get some reward for my efforts when one bloke suggested going to the pub for a drink.

But when I said I would love to, they said it was a "lads' night" and left.

I feel really pissed off about the way they are treating me.

What shall I do?

BD, Somerset

Kelly says...

YOU'RE spot on when you say they are using you. Next time they call, tell them to fk off!

My cheating shame with busty blonde

Dear Kelly,

I WAS invited to a 25th wedding anniversary party. My missus was away visiting a relative, so I went alone to a hotel where I'd booked in for the night.

At the anniversary dinner, I was seated next to a blonde who was about 45 with a great figure – shown off to great effect by her low-cut party dress.

I spent most of the night gazing down her cleavage and, when she noticed, I felt her hand slip on to my thigh and start rubbing.

She could tell I was "up" for it, and for the first time in 24 years of marriage I cheated on my wife.

In my room she performed an erotic strip to reveal a tanned and well-toned body.

Lapped

She lay back on the bed and spread her legs, revealing a moist pussy.

Without a thought for my wife, I went down on her luscious fanny and lapped at it until she was panting for a poke.

I couldn't restrain myself as I shafted her long and hard.

But in the cold light of day I was shocked at the way I behaved and I'm now terrified that word might get back to my missus.

What can I do?

NC, Dorset

Kelly says...

IF it was a one-off, just concentrate on reaching your own 25th anniversary

Mail: Agony, Sunday Sport, 860 Chester Road, Stretford, Manchester M32 0QJ

Dear Kelly,

I'M a bubbly, 18-year-old blonde and three months ago I started a job with an insurance company.

I thought I'd hit the jackpot when my head of department – a handsome bloke in his early 30s – asked me out for a drink.

We got on really well and I could tell he was bursting to shag me, but he said he was married and couldn't take me home to his place.

I was so horny that I suggested we went to the office.

We'd worked ourselves up into a sexual frenzy and when he got me in his office he didn't mess around.

He bent me over the desk, slid down my knickers from behind and roughly inserted his todger.

I felt like I was being treated like a whore, but I wasn't going to complain as I was thinking of my promotion prospects.

How wrong I was to build up my hopes!

The next day he passed me in the corridor without a second glance and he hasn't spoken to me since.

What should I do?

HK, Weymouth

Kelly says...

WORK hard instead.

marta DABROWSKI

DISHY Marta Dabrowski likes dressing up in the bedroom but reckons the best thing to wear for sex is... nothing at all!

The 36E blonde Aussie, originally from Sydney, said: "I've got all the kinky outfits at home."

"But the thing that really seems to get a fella's motor running is coming out of the bathroom, straight after a long shower, and stark naked."

"It's even better if I've just shaved my pussy. That makes it really sensitive and when he goes down on me... wow!"

#HOT'N'HORNY

LUSTY Lauren Holdsworth loves watching lesbian porn! The 32DD stunna, from Bethnal Green in London, said: "I love watching girl-on-girl action and want to re-enact the kinky scenes myself."
"I enjoy watching girls slipping their tongues into each other's hot, wet pussies, and even fingering each other's tight little bumholes."
"I love seeing a good lesbian rimming scene, too."
The scorcher also admitted: "I sometimes watch them when I'm alone and finger myself to orgasm as I imagine I'm part of the scene... being licked and pleased, too."

"But even better than that is to watch lesbo stuff with a guy."

"I like to wank him off as he's watching the action on screen and then tickle his balls as he's about to come - then lick up his spunk when he's jizzed all over the place."

"He's soon hard again after that and gives me a proper seeing-to - one that leaves us both thoroughly spent and tired afterwards!"

Tony, 34, from Carlisle, said none of his colleagues understand his obsession with Michelle, from Exeter.

And he wants to show them what they're missing by taking a photo of her onto site.

He said: "They'll not stop ribbing me about fancying her until I show them a good photo of her."

"The sexiest photo you've got please – ideally with her 34F boobs looking sensational."

STEVIE LOUISE

Timothy, 47, from Newcastle, penned a letter to the Sport asking for a pic of mega-boob Aimee, from Broxbourne, Herts.,

He said: "I do love boobs. I don't know any man who'd turn down a woman with a good pair of boobs, the bigger the better for me."

"Danni is a stunning girl but I'm not going to lie, it's definitely her 36DD norks which catch my eye. I could stare at them for days."

HORSE RACING: ALL TODAY'S BEST BETS

Wildes blows away rivals

CRESSIDA WON'T DICK ABOUT AT KEMPTON

CRESSIDA WILDES has done plenty to recommend her in the Unibet Supports Safer Gambling Novice Stakes at Kempton.

The daughter of Showcasing put in a series of solid efforts on turf for Charlie Fellowes last year, including a close fifth in Listed company at Newbury, a Chester second to It Ain't Two and a Yarmouth third with Ryan Moore on board.

Following a switch to Phil McEntee, she made her all-weather debut at Southwell and led early on before being brushed aside by the smart-looking Nazuki over six furlongs at Southwell.

Dropped back to the minimum trip at Newcastle, Cressida Wildes recovered well from fluffing her start to finish a very respectable fourth at 20-1 in what appeared a hot nursery.

Luke Morris was in the saddle that day and has been booked again as the three-year-old moves back up in distance in a more winnable contest.

William Haggas and Tom Marquand team up with royal runner Purple Rainbow in the first division of the Free Bet With Unibet's Betbuilder Rebound Maiden Fillies' Stakes.

Haggas claimed four wins with her dam Daphne for the late Queen Elizabeth II and this Night Of Thunder filly made a good impression when second to experienced favourite Enacting at Wolverhampton on her racecourse bow.

The Horse Watchers syndicate team have enjoyed plenty of success of late and are proving really shrewd at picking up fairly-priced recruits capable of making good progress. Dash Gordon was snapped up after scoring at Newcastle in October and caught the eye when third on his first start for new connections at the same track on Saturday.

With a move to Mick Appleby's yard taken into account, he may just have needed that outing after a 102-day break and is now worth support in Southwell's Weekly £5 Free Bet With BetUK Classified Stakes.

French raider Kloth Of Utopia disappointed when odds-on at Ascot in November but has been given plenty of time to regroup and can now show his true worth in Newbury's Grosvenor Sport Cash Back Offers Novices' Hurdle.

The JP McManus-owned gelding had previously powered to an impressive 12-length triumph at Auteuil for Noel George and is a half-brother to multiple Grade One victor Theleme.

Fantastic Lady and Apple Away head the ratings for the Charlie Nugent Memorial Mares' Chase but both have been unconvincing this season, which gives Lady Balko a chance to challenge for Listed honours.

This represents a step up in grade for David Pipe's charge but she has looked a very progressive six-year-old in landing a handicap hat-trick and will set out to make this a proper test in tough conditions.

Beaten

Buckna has been costly to follow since joining Warren Greatrex but is given another chance to justify his huge price tag in the Dragonbet Oncourse Values Online Novices' Hurdle at Hereford.

The five-year-old changed hands for £350,000 after winning an Irish point-to-point last March but has twice been a beaten favourite under rules.

However, his Ffos Las second to Admiral Stewart was a fair effort and the fact that he has been given a month off since a distant fourth behind Captain Bellamy at Newbury suggests that run was too bad to be true.

CONSTITUTION HILL

Japanese ace lined up for Fez showdown

HORSE RACING

JAPAN'S All The World was a shock name among 16 put forward for the Unibet Champion Hurdle, with 2023 hero Constitution Hill heading the list of contenders, as he tries to regain his crown.

Nicky Henderson's unbeaten hurdling star is used to facing the might of Ireland and will have up to a maximum of nine Emerald Isle raiders to contend with on the opening day of the Cheltenham Festival.

However, he could also now do battle against one of the best from the Far East, with Kazuya Nakatake's eight-year-old having finished third in the Tokyo High-Jump, one of the country's leading jump races, in October.

Henderson has given leading Arkle fancy Sir Gino the option of reverting to hurdles, as he did when deputising for Constitution Hill in the Fighting Fifth at Newcastle.

However, the bulk of Constitution Hill's main opposition is set to come from Ireland, with defending champion State Man, Anzadam, Kitzbuhel and Winter Fog among Willie Mullins' six possible runners.

Dual Festival winner Lossiemouth – the horse Constitution Hill beat on his return in the Christmas Hurdle at Kempton – and last year's Triumph runner-up Kargese are others in the mix from Closutton, although both also featured among the 24 entries for the Close Brothers Mares' Hurdle.

Gordon Elliott's Brighterdaysahead is another with a ticket for both Grade One events on day one of March's showpiece and she has announced herself as a real star this term with two thrilling victories over the aforementioned State Man.

Jeremy Scott's Golden Ace joins her high-ranking Irish counterparts with an entry in the Champion and Mares' Hurdle races, as she seeks to follow up last year's Festival success, while Greatwood Hurdle winner Burdett Road is another notable entrant in the big one.

The Paddy Power Stayers' Hurdle has attracted 36 entries, led by defending champion Teahupoo, with over half the potential runners coming from Ireland.

TRIBUTES TO MAN CITY LEGEND BOOK

FORMER Manchester City captain and manager Tony Book has died at the age of 90, the club have announced.

Right-back Book captained City as they won four major trophies, including the First Division title and European Cup Winners' Cup, in the late 1960s and early 1970s, and he later led them to further League Cup success as manager in 1976.

He also coached a City side that won the FA Youth Cup in 1986, and was subsequently named an honorary president at the club, as well as life president of their supporters club. City chairman

By JOHN ANTHONY

Khaldoon Al Mubarak said in a statement from the eight-time Premier League champions: "For nearly sixty years Tony helped to shape Manchester City."

"Not just in what he contributed as a player, captain and manager, but in the way he conducted himself. His hopes and ambitions for his club were matched only by his incredible humility regarding his own significant achievements."

"He will forever be remembered by our supporters as a man who helped to lay the foundations upon which unprecedented success could be built. A player and leader whose outstanding abilities not only helped return us to the peak of English football, but also delivered our first ever European honour."

"Tony's devotion to his club meant he was still fulfilling club duties earlier this season I will miss seeing him at our games enormously, and witnessing first hand the regard in which he is held by every generation of the City family." Book was a late developer and did not play top-flight football until 32.

He spent most of his early career with non-League Bath City before moving into the professional game with Second Division Plymouth.

A move to City followed in 1966, he was appointed captain the following year and Book – affectionately known as 'Skip' – went on to lift the First Division title in 1968, the FA Cup in 1969 and the League Cup and Cup Winners' Cup in 1970.

Having made 315 appearances for the club, scoring five goals, he then in 1974 began what would be a five-year tenure as manager, during which the team secured the League Cup again with victory over Newcastle at Wembley and finished as Division One runners-up in 1977.

City described Book as "a true club legend in every sense of the word" and said that "for many he was and will forever be Mr Manchester City".

They sent "heartfelt condolences to Tony's family and friends at this very sad time", adding that as a mark of respect, flags around the Etihad and City Football Academy were flying at half-mast.

INJURED: Barnes

Barnes a big miss for Howe's Magpies

By ANDY MILLOM

NEWCASTLE boss Eddie Howe expects winger Harvey Barnes to be sidelined for "around a month" with a thigh injury suffered at the weekend.

The 27-year-old was named in the starting line-up for Sunday's FA Cup victory over Bromley but was withdrawn at half-time and now faces a spell out of action.

"I don't think it's a serious injury, but it will be enough to keep him out for a few weeks," Howe said. "I think we're probably looking around a month, don't hold me to that, but that's sort of the early assessment."

"He's had a scan, it's not too bad, but it will be enough to keep him out."

Alexander Isak, Sven Botman and Jacob Murphy were all absent for the Bromley clash, but Howe believes they should be ready for Wednesday's home game against Wolves.

"We'll have a look at them again today," he said. "They were left out for genuine reasons."

"So, all different things, but nothing major, we hope. So, minor problems that we needed to settle down, fingers crossed they'll be thereabouts."

Howe also praised 35-year-old goalkeeper Martin Dubravka, who has deputised for the injured Nick Pope for the Magpies' last eight games, for maintaining a "measured approach" amid links with a move to Saudi Pro League side Al Shabab.

"There's no change," Howe said. "I think discussions will take place. I'm not directly involved in them."

"I think Martin's handled himself really well in this period. I think there's been a lot of noise, but when I look at him he's exactly the same."

"He's kept goal really well, and I think he's been very measured in his approach, he's never let anything off the field affect his psychology. I think he's been top drawer."

Newcastle head into Wednesday's match on an eight-game winning run in all competitions, including five straight Premier League victories.

That streak has also seen the Magpies move within touching distance of the Carabao Cup final, with a 2-0 semi-final first-leg win at Arsenal, and advance to the FA Cup fourth round.

BE BRAVER

Knight wants more before Ashes are gone

CRICKET By NED TRUEMAN

ENGLAND captain Heather Knight called for her side to be "braver with the bat" after they slumped to a second successive defeat in the Women's Ashes.

A 21-run loss in the second one-dayer means Australia enjoy a 4-0 lead in the multi-format series.

Sophie Ecclestone took four for 35 and Alice Capsey three for 22 as England bowled out Australia for 180 – the hosts having been 131 for two – but Kim Garth responded with three for 37 and leg-spinner Alana King took four for 25 as England were skittled for 159.

"It's frustrating, I feel like it was there for the taking," Knight (right) said.

"Sophie and Alice bowled brilliantly. The wickets cost us. We need to be a bit braver with the bat."

"Amy [Jones, who made 47 not out] was great at keeping us in the game. She was trying to face the majority of the balls and picking up boundaries when she could. It's obviously frustrating. Amy got us close but unfortunately just not close enough. We just need to do a few things better in a few areas."

Capsey admitted England will need to regroup quickly ahead of the next game on Thursday, having recovered from a bigger deficit to draw the last series in 2023.

"We're four down but last time we were six down. We've got so much more time to regroup and get better," Capsey said.

Delighted

"It's not the best start to our campaign but at the same time we've shown glimpses of what we can do so far. All it took was one partnership to get us over the line but we couldn't do that."

Australia skipper Alyssa Healy was delighted with her team's performance.

"A tremendous game of cricket," Healy said.

"To take it as deep as we could was a serious effort from our girls. I think that was one of the best wins I've been a part of."

"I think I said I'd rather lose with them eight down in the 35th over trying to bowl them out than take it to the 49th over so a bit ridiculous!"

"I thought our bowlers did an outstanding job and there was enough in the wicket all day, even right at the back end with Lauren Bell's dismissal. We did an amazing job of creating pressure and holding chances when they came our way. We got the job done."

"But we move on. There's still a lot of games left in this Ashes series."

"We go on to Hobart and hopefully put on a more complete display. We're still unbeaten at the Junction Oval which is awesome."

Meanwhile, England remain hopeful that Saqib Mahmood will join their white-ball tour of India on time after delays with his visa forced him to miss a pre-series trip to Abu Dhabi. Mahmood has yet to receive the required approval from the Indian authorities, meaning he has been unable to join fellow seamers Jofra Archer, Mark Wood, Gus Atkinson and Brydon Carse on a pace bowling camp led by legend James Anderson.

He becomes the latest player of Pakistani heritage to experience such a hold-up, with England spinner Shoaib Bashir rendered unavailable for a Test match last January following a similar issue with immigration in India.

Mahmood himself had to pull out of an England Lions squad to India in 2019 due to problems with the visa process. Australia opener Usman Khawaja experienced the same hurdles ahead of a Test tour in 2023 and there were delays getting the Pakistan squad and travelling media into India for that year's World Cup. The England and Wales Cricket Board has declined to comment on the situation but is understood to be optimistic Mahmood will still receive clearance in time to join fly out to Kolkata on Friday in time for the series opener next Wednesday.

Adil Rashid and Rehan Ahmed, two other squad members with Pakistani heritage, are understood to have visas in place.

Eager

The assignment in India, comprising five T20s and three ODIs, represents the first since Test head coach Brendon McCullum took control of the limited-overs set-up, meaning Mahmood will be eager to make his mark.

The 27-year-old, who is also in the squad for next month's Champions Trophy Pakistan and the United Arab Emirates, was named player of the series for England's T20s against the West Indies in November. England will be keen to get him into the squad.

NEW SKIPPER:
Maro Itoje

SUPER MARO LEADS RED ROSE

Shock as Itoje gets armband for Six Nations

RUGBY UNION

MARO Itoje will captain England for the Six Nations in a surprise leadership overhaul by head coach Steve Borthwick.

Jamie George has been in charge since the 2023 World Cup but, after a disappointing year in which England won only five of their 12 Tests, he has been replaced by his Saracens team-mate. It is the first time Itoje has been given the role as the 30-year-old lock continues his rise as a leader having been installed as Saracens skipper too. "Maro's a world-class player who has the respect of everybody so I feel really privileged to have the opportunity to appoint Maro as captain," Borthwick said. "When you're making a decision like that, there's always a number of factors to consider – where the team's at and what you feel it needs in this next spell." Borthwick's predecessor as England boss Eddie Jones doubted Itoje would ever be captain, describing him as "very inward-looking", but the two-time British and Irish Lions tourist has proved him wrong. "With the role comes a great deal of responsibility, but I'm at a point in my career where I feel ready to give my all to serve the team and fans with the captaincy, and also produce my best on the field," Itoje said. "It's reassuring to know there is a group of senior players to support me and help build on the achievements of Jamie, who has led the team brilliantly and who has been a great friend and leader for years." At 34, George faces a battle to be involved in the next World Cup in 2027 and is fighting for his position as first-choice hooker with Luke Cowan-Dickie and Theo Dan in the frame. The news he had been demoted to vice-captain alongside Ellis Genge came as a blow to George, a veteran of 97 caps who has been a cornerstone of England's pack since late 2018. "Jamie's done a great job of captaining in the last 12 months. He's disappointed, as anybody would be. He's a proud Englishman and he's led the team with pride," Borthwick said. "One of Jamie's great strengths as a leader, person and player is that he's always put the team first. Having spoken to him, that's what his intent is."

Questions have been asked of George's suitability for the captaincy given he went from being an ever-present in the 2023 World Cup to last year being subbed early in the second-half when matches were hanging in the balance. England suffered a string of narrow defeats to France, New Zealand and Australia and his absence from the field at clutch points became a recurring talking point. "It's one of the factors," Borthwick continued. "If you ask any coach, the preference would always be to have the captain on for 80 minutes. "That's not always possible and there are plenty of exceptions to that case. But that would be the preference of most coaches." Borthwick has picked a 36-man squad for the Six Nations that includes Saracens number eight Tom Willis, but is missing veteran prop Dan Cole and scrum-half Ben Spencer.

Sack threat fires up Wales coach

WARREN Gatland accepts that change is likely if Wales do not improve during this season's Six Nations. The New Zealander is under huge pressure following a record 12-successive Test defeats. WRU chief executive Abi Tierney said Wales head coach Gatland's position "was on the line". Against that back-drop, Wales face a ferociously-tough opening Six Nations appointment with France in Paris on January 31, followed by an away clash against Italy eight days later. Wales have not won a Test since beating Georgia during the 2023 World Cup, and Gatland said: "I am conscious that if things don't improve, then there is likely to be a change from the Union. "I have been pretty straight up about it, but for me it is about rising to the challenge of making sure we go out there and perform well. "Obviously, this tournament is about winning. We can't hide away from that fact that we've got to go out there and play well and give a real performance. That is what we need to do as a group and as a coaching team as well. "You question yourself. It is also about trying to strike a balance between not making radical changes and finding some tweaks to improve things."

IT'S GRIM UP NORTH LONDON

Havertz can fire up cold Gunners

ARTETA BACKS KAI BUT STILL WANTS A STRIKER

MIKEL Arteta has refused to rule out Gabriel Jesus being sidelined for the rest of the season, with the Arsenal manager also launching a passionate defence of Kai Havertz ahead of the north London derby against Tottenham.

The full extent of Jesus' knee injury, which he sustained in the first half of Arsenal's FA Cup exit to Manchester United on Sunday, is expected to be confirmed by the club in the next 24 hours with him due to see another specialist later on Tuesday.

There are fears the Brazilian, who has scored six times across his last seven appearances, has suffered a suspected ACL injury in his left knee.

Jesus was taken off on a stretcher with his head in his hands four minutes before half-time at the Emirates Stadium and, when asked if the 27-year-old could be ruled out for the rest of the campaign, Arteta said: "Let's wait until this afternoon."

"We know more now (than Sunday) and it's not looking good at all."

"We need to review one more specialist. I don't want to confirm anything until we have the final report this afternoon."

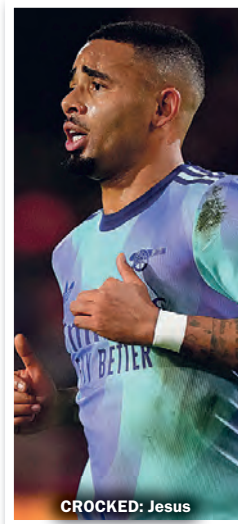

"It's the doctor's job to do that. But we were very worried after the game and we are very worried today."

Abhorrent

Jesus' injury will place fresh impetus on Arsenal's activity in this month's transfer window and even greater focus on Havertz.

Arsenal are investigating abhorrent social media posts sent to the Germany international's wife, Sophia, following his penalty shootout failure against United.

Havertz also missed good chances in regulation time to bury United – five days after he failed to convert a great opportunity to score in Arsenal's 2-0 first-leg semifinal defeat to Newcastle in the Carabao Cup.

CROCKED: Jesus

Commenting on the social media abuse aimed at Havertz and his family,

Arteta continued: "It's incredible, honestly."

"We really have to do something about it, because accepting that and hiding this has terrible consequences."

"It's something we have to eradicate from the game because it's so cynical and dependent to a result of an action. There is no other industry like this."

"When we played Ipswich on December 27, we won 1-0 and Kai Havertz scored. The whole stadium after that is singing the 'Waka, Waka' (his chant). That was 20 days ago. Where is the perspective?"

"We are all responsible. You guys (the media) are responsible, everybody is responsible for the narrative and how we talk. We cannot look somewhere else. That's a really serious matter. It affects me. It affects him and everybody that is in the industry."

"We can accept it and say 'that's our job', but there are certain limits and the line has to be drawn. We put a lot of attention on technology and what is next in football. What is next in football is that this should be prohibited. It cannot happen. That's it."

Arteta confirmed he is looking for players to fill his depleted side, with a number nine even more of a priority in this window.

Bukayo Saka is out until March at the earliest with a hamstring injury, while his understudy, Ethan Nwaneri, 17, is also sidelined.

"We are actively looking in the market to improve the squad," said Arteta ahead of Wednesday's home clash against Spurs.

"We have been since day one."

Improving

"It would be naive not to do that because there is always an opportunity to evolve the team and improve the squad, so yes, we are looking and let's see what we are able to do."

"When you recruit a player there are three parties and you have to agree."

"The fact I love our players a lot does not mean we cannot think about improving. We're not that stubborn to believe that's true."

New Toffees boss plots road back to the top

DAVID Moyes admits he has rejoined a "different" Everton to the one he left 12 years ago but believes new owners The Friedkin Group have already put the club on the path towards a brighter future.

The 61-year-old Scot returned last week following Sean Dyche's sacking after one win in 11 Premier League matches left the Toffees in relegation trouble.

But after leaving behind what he felt was a "brilliant" team in 2013 when he went to Manchester United, Moyes has inherited an altogether different situation.

In the intervening period – which had eight permanent managers – millions was squandered to leave the club in a perilous position, but after TFG's takeover last month they are now on a more stable financial footing with the prospect of a new stadium at Bramley-Moore Dock to look forward to next season.

"Problems the club have had are not completely over but are very close to getting them over and that is the bit that excites me most," he said ahead of the visit of Aston Villa.

"We can then go back to trying to grow the team. For many years it has been stifled because of the financial situation, the new owners are clearing that up but the new owners have an ambition to try to get Everton back nearer the top."

"I left a brilliant team with great characters. I've walked back into a different thing. It took me time to build that but most years here we made a bit of progress. We didn't have huge money and have not got huge money now."

"I don't know if we had hit a glass ceiling but we started to feel we couldn't get much further because we were finishing sixth, seventh a lot of the time."

"The new ownership put in money to try to build Everton. Money is always a thing we talk about but is not always the thing."

"Sometimes it is having good characters, working hard. Sadly it is starting to look like money is the thing to get you success."

"Let's hope we can get in that situation. We are trying to build the club back to where it should be."

"This period is not going to be easy either but the new ownership have big ideas and big hopes they can make a big difference to the football club."

signed for Scottish Premiership side Aberdeen on loan.

Lankshear has interest from the Championship and overseas and should soon get the green light from Spurs to depart on loan.

New Tottenham goalie Antonin Kinsky insists he's looking forward to his first taste of a north London derby.

Recovers

The Czech gloveman was in excellent form on debut against Liverpool and was solid during the tricky FA Cup tie at Tamworth.

The 21-year-old has established himself as the No1 keeper while Guglielmo Vicario recovers from the injury that could keep him out for the season.

His form has led to rumours that the Londoners may look to cash in on Vicario when he's fit again.

Kinsky signed a six-year deal and already looks like he could be a bargain at just £12.5m from Slavia Prague.

Kinsky is still on a high after his excellent performance against Liverpool.

He said: "It was definitely the best night of my life. I'm a big dreamer. I make my own vision of the future. This dream, I had never dreamt this one."

Dominic Solanke has been impressed with his new team-mate on and off the pitch.

He said: "He looked like a natural so far, like he's been playing and training with the rest of us for years."

"Especially at his age, to come in and have the impact he did so soon, it's a big credit to him."

"To have him at the club now is great for us. We're going to need him, we have a lot of big games coming up."

ALFIE HEADS TO ABERDEEN

ABERDEEN boss Jimmy Thelin has moved to replenish his depleted defence by signing teenage Tottenham centre-back Alfie Dorrington on loan until the end of the season.

The 19-year-old's only first-team appearance for Spurs so far came as a late substitute in last month's 5-0 Premier League win at Southampton and he makes the move to Pittodrie a day after being an unused sub in the FA Cup victory over Tamworth.

"Alfie is a really exciting young prospect who recently made his debut for the Tottenham Hotspur first team," Thelin told the Dons website.

"He has good speed, stature and good ability on the ball and his arrival will further strengthen our options at centre-back.

"We believe this will be an environment in which he can continue to grow and gain some invaluable match experience in a really competitive league."

City close in on teen Brazilian stopper as Walker heads to AC

MANCHESTER City are closing in on the signing of teenage Palmeiras centre-back Vitor Reis with an agreement in principle reached.

The 19-year-old Brazilian looks set to join the Premier League champions for a fee in the region of £30million. And City are also understood to be working to bring in another central defender in Lens' Uzbekistan international Abdukodir Khusanov.

The club are making January transfer window moves in a season that has seen them suffer a considerable slump in results.

They won only once in 13 games in all competitions as 2024 drew to a close and lie sixth in the league table ahead of Tuesday's trip to Brentford.

City have had a number of injury problems to contend with this term, and their list of players sidelined in recent weeks includes centre-backs John Stones and Ruben Dias.

On

refreshing the squad, boss Pep Guardiola said at his pre-match press conference: "We knew at the beginning of the season that the team, in a question of time, would have 10, 11 players more than 30 years old.

"But the same team that are more than 30 years old, five or six months ago, won a fourth Premier League in a row.

"We knew that sooner or later we should have done it but what happened wasn't expected. "The best way to do it is gradually but after the injuries – wow – maybe we should have done it.

"But you never know in that position. I think the team is really good and the squad is really, really good, otherwise we cannot have achieved what we achieved last season."

Eintracht Frankfurt striker Omar Marmoush is rumoured to be another target, while City captain Kyle Walker (left) has been linked with AC Milan, with the 34-year-old right-back having told the club he wants to move and play the final years of his career abroad.
